To all -

The FOIA request for EPA-R9-2014-001383 (attached), which was previously due today, has been put on hold pending resolution of the fee waiver appeal and pending a response from the requester to clarify the scope of the request. Also, in the near future, the following offices will be tasked with providing a response to the requester:

- OECA/OCE/WCED
- OECA/OFA/ICAD
- OECA/FFEO
- OITA/ORBA
- OGC/PTSLO

Finally, a second FOIA request (also attached), EPA-R9-2014-002133 (due Jan 27), was submitted by the New York Times, which is almost identical to the first request. R9 will also task your offices with providing your response to the second FOIA as well as the first.

Thanks,
Bill

To all

The requestor, Jon Ottman, is appealing his fee waiver denial, so R9 is expecting the deadline to be extended. We are also waiting to hear back from Jon Ottman to hopefully narrow the scope of his request. I'll let you know Monday what needs to be done. Sorry for the lack of direction.

Thanks,
Bill

To all-

We received two identical FOIA requests on the Storis: one from Jon Ottman, the marine historian who was hoping to preserve the Storis as a museum ship, and one from the New York Times, which are due Jan 13 and Jan 27, respectively. By the end of this week, please send me any emails you have regarding the Storis, which I was not copied.

R9 is pulling together all their relevant documents.

Thanks,
Bill

We've received a FOIA from Jon Ottman, the marine historian who was hoping to preserve the Storis as a historic ship. Some of the FOIA is relevant to RO9 and some is relevant to us/MRWMD. Ottman is seeking copies of correspondence, communications, export permits, etc. The due date for the FOIA is Jan. 13. ITB will pull together info.

Hello to all:

The above attachment is a new FOIA. Please let me know ASAP if this should be assigned to your division. Thanks.
